

St Helen's on the High St allsaintsworcester

Announcing:	Artwork Competition for screen print onto scaffold wrap and construction hoarding at St Helen's Church on Worcester's High Street
Due Date:	Entries must be submitted by 30 th May to stella@allsaintsworcester.org.uk (format: high resolution PDF)
Prize:	Winning design will be displayed (including artist's name) on this prominent high street location for 5 months.
Briefing and Site Visit:	13th April, 12pm-1pm. Opportunity to view the site, receive the full design brief, and ask questions.

During the renovation work at St Helen's we are looking to clad our building with a creative scaffold wrap that communicates something our life and energy and makes a beautiful contribution to our city's high street.

And you could design it!

St Helen's church has a rather epic history (see more here) www.sthelensworcester.org.uk - the current medieval building sits on the earliest site of Christian worship in Worcester, during WW2 it housed soldiers, and from 1957 to 2001 it was used as the city's records office.

The winning design, however, will not be an exercise in nostalgia. Whilst remaining sensitive with the past, we are looking for a design that celebrates what's happening now and looks forward to what is to come (see here) www.allsaintsworcester.org.uk

In recent times, St Helen's has been one of Worcester's hidden secrets. But now it is open again as a place for community to happen in the heart of our city. Already St Helen's is used for weekly Sunday worship, concerts, coffee mornings, conferences, debt advice, job clubs, weddings, parties and more. And there a big plans to open up the space further, partnering with others to bring yet more life to our city centre.

We have recently secured a £250,000 Heritage Lottery Fund grant to address essential stonework repairs. This competition is running as part of the project that will see an impressive scaffold wrap design displayed on the high level scaffolding and perimeter hoarding. The winning artwork will be highly visible by thousands of people walking past. It will include Heritage Lottery Fund acknowledgement, and some other local business advertising.

